SAXOPHONIST ~ COMPOSER ~ TEACHER

"Makes the room come alive!"
- The Consulate Dining Lounge

"Lorenzo is a talented and driven young saxophonist who shows a great deal of promise. You can hear a lot of spirit in his sound - watch out for him in the coming years!"
- Sundar Viswanathan, Juno Nominated Toronto Saxophonist

"Lorenzo is a talented musician who has spent a good deal of time and effort listening to, and assimilating jazz on record. These musical influences and his hard work ethic are beginning to coalesce into his own sound, and stylistic approach. Check him out!"
- Mark Eisenman, Toronto Pianist

Biography

Toronto Born musician Lorenzo Polese, is a saxophonist and educator based in Toronto, Ontario. Lorenzo's formal education started at York University where he received his Bachelors of Fine Arts, specialized honours in music, in 2015. In his final year, Lorenzo was selected as one of the few participants in Ontario for Jazz FM 91's Jazzology program.

Lorenzo has been studying Jazz under the tutelage of world class musicians since his acceptance at York University in Toronto. Lorenzo has played in ensembles of various genres, such as: Pop, Rhythm and Blues, Hip-hop, Bollywood, Latin, Jazz and Classical. While also teaching music privately, he has worked at public teaching facilities such as The National Music Camp of Canada and 3G Music Studios. Lorenzo has studied with many great instructors including: Sundar Viswanathan, Ryan Oliver, Nick Morgan, Carlos Amaran, Ken Meyer, Tara Davidson, and Kelly Jefferson. He has also studied with trumpet players Mike Malone and Kevin Turcotte, bassist Artie Roth and pianist Mark Eisenman.

In February 2013, Lorenzo started his own quintet "Glass Act." This group features Toronto's own: Christina Wynans (Vocals), Greg McClary (Piano), Daniel Diaz (Bass), and Justin McHugh (Drums). Working with vocalists has always been an interest for Lorenzo, which is why working with Toronto artist Natasha Roldan was such a pleasure. Lorenzo guested on Natasha's newly released EP "No Apologies" (2015). Lorenzo can also be seen playing with his Quintet or his duo/trio projects. Lorenzo currently teaches and plays in Toronto, Canada.
